Invest in Our Vision
Any member of a service body can petition that body for the redress of a personal grievance, without fear of reprisal.

The Tenth Concept’s guarantee of the right to appeal for redress of a personal grievance is designed, in part, to protect those who exercise their Ninth Concept responsibility to speak their mind in service discussions. Together, the Ninth and Tenth Concepts support an atmosphere in which our members feel free to express themselves frankly on matters at hand. This open atmosphere is essential in developing an effective group conscience. If, after having demonstrated the courage of their convictions, individuals become the subject of reprisals initiated by those who have disagreed with them, the Tenth Concept allows them to petition the appropriate service body for redress of their grievance. Thus, the respect of our service structure for the rights of the individual NA member is guaranteed. In a fellowship such as ours, whose success is based upon mutual support and cooperation.
Narcotics Anonymous has no opinion on outside issues; hence the NA name ought never be drawn into public controversy.

In so many ways, Tradition Ten is about wisdom. We learn when to speak the truth, and when silence is the wiser choice. When we feel we need to defend or explain, it’s often because we are still not quite sure. “The wisdom to know the difference” that comes from practicing this Tradition in NA helps us in our work lives and our personal lives as well. We practice honesty and discretion, focus on the purpose at hand, and are not diverted by side topics or invitations to argument. We learn what is true for us and stand firm in that truth. The most effective approach may be to let go and let a challenge go by unaddressed. We can move mountains in recovery, but we don’t have to move every mountain. Tradition Ten frees us to mind our own business. Being able to distinguish between necessary conflict and needless controversy frees us to direct our efforts where they can do the most good.
